Drug tests prompt suit

By Bob Slate
 Staff writer

Granite City's clerical workers want a federal judge to halt a random drug-testing policy adopted earlier this year by the mayor.

The workers, members of American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) Local 3405, filed suit in federal court Friday against the city and Mayor Ron Selph, local President Barb Hawkins confirmed Monday.

The suit asks for a permanent injunction against random drug testing of Local 3405 members by the city. The union alleges that random drug testing would be a violation of members' constitutional rights, Hawkins said.

"We are opposed to random testing because we feel it is an infringement on our right to privacy," Hawkins said.

Assistant City Attorney Ed Fitzhenry said his opinion differs.

"Obviously, we don't think the policy is unconstitutional," Fitzhenry said.

The workers include clerks in City Hall and clerks and dispatchers at the police station.

Hawkins said that members of Local 3405 do not oppose drug testing based on reasonable suspicion, but that random testing is unnecessary for clerical workers not involved in public safety positions, many of whom are "mothers and grandmothers" who have worked for the city for decades.

"We don't operate heavy equipment and we aren't in positions responsible for public safety," Hawkins said.

Police Chief Dave Ruebhausen said that he could not speak for other clerical workers, but that dispatchers at the police station "absolutely" have public safety responsibilities.

"Anyone who answers 911 emergency telephone calls and has their responsibilities as a vital public safety role to play," Ruebhausen said.

Hawkins said that dispatchers "could be dealt with by police policy."

The city's sworn police officers "voluntarily submitted to a

Alleged shooter arrested in Cahokia

Police over the weekend arrested a 27-year-old Venice man charged in connection with the shooting death of a 13-year-old Venice girl last week.

Lennell L. Johnson, of the 1300 block of Oriole Street, was arrested at about 5 p.m. Saturday by Cahokia police. Police Sgt. Theo Adams.

Johnson was charged with involuntary manslaughter and unlawful possession of a weapon by a felon in a felony warrant issued Friday.

He was being held Monday in lieu of $150,000 bond.

Police said Johnson fired a gun during an altercation with another man in the 300 block of Baucum Avenue at about 7:15 p.m. Thursday.

The stray bullet struck Tyameeka Weathers of Venice who was walking with her mother on the other side of the street.

In the head, police said.

The girl died from the injury Friday afternoon at Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital.

Police said the gun discharged when Johnson and another man fought on the west side of Baucum Avenue.

"(Johnson's) arm went back in a thrusting motion and the gun discharged," Adams said.

He said police interviewed the second man involved in the fight, but that the man refused to say why the altercation took place.

Programs aim at mental health

May is National Mental Health Month, but associates from Mental Health Services at St. Elizabeth Medical Center say they observe it year-round.

Their goal is to provide patients with the type of help they need, whether it be inpatient or outpatient care.

Services provided on-site at the medical center, 2100 Madison Ave., Granite City, include: the Child Development Unit, Adolescent Unit, Adult Program, Activity Therapy and Outpatient Services.

In addition, the MHS staff provides services in a patient's home through Home Care, and for students through School Consultation Services.

"One of the primary goals of Activity Therapy is to assist the individual in developing a fulfilling lifestyle by rejuvenating old interests and developing new ones," said Laura Bronnauer, certified therapeutic recreational specialist.

"We help patients develop skills necessary to enhance a healthy, satisfying life by promoting leisure interests and wellness programs. Therapists often work with patients on issues that prevent them from leading a healthy lifestyle. Groups are offered to assist patients in

911 is now accessible from vehicles

Motorists needing emergency help can let their fingers do the talking.

Vehicles equipped with cellular telephones now have direct access to the county's 911 emergency dispatching system.

"People have already begun using it," said Dave Whipple, the Madison County 911 coordinator, noting the cellular system went on line May 1. "It works great. It's going to make it a lot more convenient for stranded motorists."

Before the system went on line, motorists had access to Illinois State Police dispatchers by dialing 511, but Whipple said motorists should now dial 911.

"We hope everyone gets used to the idea of dialing 911 because the other emergency lines will eventually expire," he said. "A lot of people had tried to dial 911 before, but they only heard a recording. Now the 911 dispatchers are ready to take the calls."

The service also began May 1 in St. Clair, Monroe and Clinton counties.

Dispatchers are instructed to ask the caller's name, phone number and location, he said.

"They will know right away it is a cellular call. They will ask for a phone number in case the call is disconnected. They will also ask for a location."

The service will be no extra cost for the county or cellular phone users, Whipple said.

"There is no cost for dialing

The two-hour course is designed to answer questions about the Rules of the Road and to assist participants in preparation for examination. Topics include written, vision and road tests.

The Rules of the Road Review Course will be held from 9 to 11 a.m. Friday, May 27, at Granite City Township Building.

Welfare task force pushes action on child abuse reform

Members of a child welfare task force say they are pushing for speedy action on a child abuse reform bill.

Legislation to create teams to investigate child deaths passed the House Wednesday 114-0, but Rep. Jay Hoffman of Collinsville said the bill must move quickly through the Senate to become law this session.

The review teams would be set up to improve communication among agencies and child advocates.

Hoffman, a Democrat and the bill's sponsor, said at a news conference Thursday that quick action is needed because the Senate's deadline to accept new House bills has passed.

Hoffman has teamed up with Sen. Beverly Pawell, R-Glen Ellyn, in a bipartisan effort to advance the bill.

He said Senate supporters can get around the deadline by attaching the child abuse reform measure as an amendment to another bill.

"Although the task force has made several recommendations, we're pushing this one this year because it's so important," Hoffman said.

The bill is one of 21 recommendations made by the Illinois Child Fatality Task Force, which released a preliminary report in late January.

The group found increased communication among child protection agencies and advocates would curtail child deaths caused by abuse and neglect.

The review teams, now used in 34 other states, would foster regular contact among professionals from coroners' offices and the criminal justice, education and health and human service fields.

They would be set up in eight regions of the state. A region based in East St. Louis would encompass much of Madison County.

In Madison County, two children have died of abuse and neglect this fiscal year, which ends June 30. There was one such death in fiscal year 1993 and three in fiscal year 1992, according to the Department of Children and Family Services.

"Being able to access (others') knowledge helps us to understand the kinds of cases that we struggle with as well as to better protect children," said Cito Terry, DCF's executive deputy director at the Thursday news conference.

"That kind of multidisciplinary approach to a very, very serious, complex problem is a giant step toward helping us do our job better," she added.

Madison and Cook counties are the only areas in the state that have taken the initiative to set up similar teams. The Madison County Child Abuse Task Force administers a team that reviews every child death that may have been caused by abuse or neglect.

Neil Hochstadt, chairman of the task force, said the department rarely learns from child deaths because Illinois doesn't have a statewide mechanism to review the fatalities.

"The only thing more tragic than the death of a child is if we don't learn something from that tragedy," he said.

SEMC official honored as firefighter

The dreams of a little boy recently became reality for the director of materials management at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City.

Dave Nulsen, a member of the Cahokia Volunteer Fire Department, has just been named Firefighter of the Year for 1993.

"I guess I am just like many others," Nulsen said. "When I was a little boy, I wanted to be on the big truck ringing the bell and running the lights and siren."

"Since I have been a member of the fire department for about 13 years, this award is a great honor. I think my administrative duties enabled me to receive it."

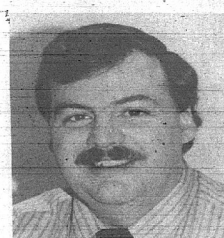

Nulsen was selected for the award by the fire chief after a review of each of the 54 members' activities and service.

As a Class II certified firefighter in Illinois and chief investigator of the Arson Investigation Squad, Nulsen served as acting president and

Adopt-A-Pet Day set for Saturday

Madison County Humane Society is holding an Adopt-A-Pet Day from noon to 4 p.m. Saturday, May 21, at PetsMart in O'Fallon. Puppies, dogs, kittens and cats are available for adoption.

The cost to adopt a dog is $50 and includes rabies, DHPP, collar, leash, ID tag and $15 spay/neuter deposit.

assistant chief at many meetings, as well as being involved with committees.

"We had 15 arson cases last year," he said. "In the past 10 years, I participated in two cases that received the Golden Torch Award (an award given to arson investigation units by the Southern Illinois Arson Investigation Association), which is a very prestigious award."

Nulsen said he became interested in fighting fires after his brother-in-law joined the department.

"I used to hang around the fire house a lot. Later, I decided I wanted to be more involved with community service, and basically be able to help others," he said.

"When I help fight fires, I get a real feeling of fulfillment.

The community relies on us to help."

Nulsen's dedication is visible. "We have four regularly scheduled days each month that we must be at the station, and I must attend two administrative meetings each month."

"On average, I go to 100 calls a year, the worst being the elderly or incapacitated people who need to be removed from a smoke-filled house. It's also very difficult when you go to a house fire around Christmas time when the family loses everything. But our satisfaction comes from having no fatalities in the home."

What makes an individual who already has a full-time job volunteer so much to his community?

"There are many emotions that come out to justify why someone is a firefighter," Nulsen said.

"When you respond to a fire, you see victims at the most vulnerable point of their lives. Basically, you help them, and it gives one a feeling of satisfaction and accomplishment in doing so."

Nulsen said.

SIUE becoming residential campus

After some 35 years as a predominantly commuter campus, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is undergoing changes as it moves toward becoming a residential campus.

The most visible aspect of these changes is the new Student Residence Hall currently under construction just south of the core campus, an easy walk to SIUE's University Center. The three-story residence hall will house some 500 freshmen who will be checking into the new facility on Aug. 19.

According to SIUE Director of Housing Michael Schultz, the residence hall will offer state-of-the-art security for residents plus many amenities, including in-room computer hook-ups and a 24-hour computer lab for student use.

"The security system is very sophisticated," Schultz said. "There will be one access point into the residential area, with a 24-hour staffed desk."

Schultz said the residence hall will have two sets of entrance doors, one electronic that can only be opened with a computerized ID and a second set of doors at the 24-hour desk.

"Residents will need a computerized ID card to get into the building and they will have to escort their guests," he said. "In addition, there will be video cameras on all exterior doors."

To augment the computer lab, the building also will house a Learning Resource Center, where various groups can meet, such as peer tutoring, study groups, and freshman orientation seminars.

"There will also be a multi-function room that will have a place to show movies, and to hold dances and receptions," Schultz said. "There will also be two meeting rooms."

In each of the 10 wings of the residence hall there will be 49 students and one resident assistant; each wing will contain a study lounge at one end and a social lounge, with a television, kitchenette and counter space at the other end.

In each resident room there will be local telephone service, accessibility to cable TV and two data lines for hooking up their own computer to the university's mainframe, allowing computer access to various services and communication lines.

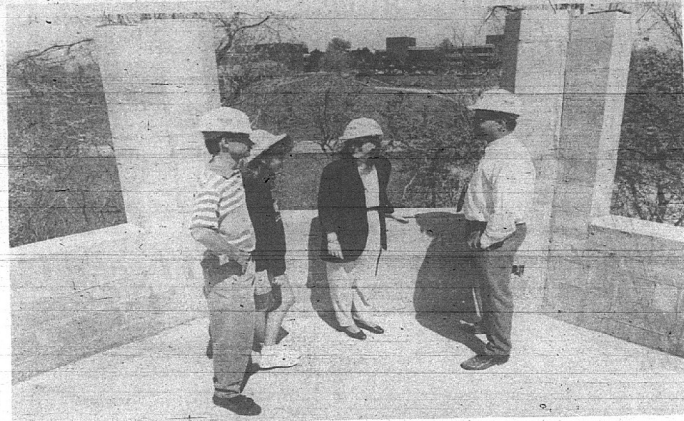

Each room will have a desk, hutch, desk chair, bed, chest of drawers, and built-in closets. There will be appropriate accessibility for those with disabilities," Schultz said, adding that the residence hall will provide freshmen with a sophisticated support system.

"One of the things we can do is provide better support for freshmen students in a traditional residential setting," Schultz said.

Freshmen staying in the residence hall will be on a declining balanced meal system, regulated through their computerized IDs. Meals will be served in the University Center (UC), with a choice of food from the cafeteria, the University Club Restaurant, or the Cougar Den. A well-lit hallway will guide students to the nearby UC; stop signs will be placed at the hallway to the UC as it crosses Circle Drive, and stop signs also will be placed on South University Drive for students who have cars parked in the Fan Parking Lots.

"The need for a student residence hall on this campus has been discussed for many years and it's exciting to finally add this chapter to the history of SIUE," Schultz said. "Campus life at SIUE will have a different feel when the Student Residence Hall comes on line."

Freshmen in the residence hall will receive the support that is needed to make that transition to college and that support will help them develop the friendships that will ultimately help them throughout their college careers," he said. "This in turn can help them with a transition to an apartment environment, which is available at Tower Lake Apartments."

SIUE Director of Housing Michael Schultz, center, chats with his assistant, Cynthia Bush, and two resident assistants who will live in the residence hall to help students from the top floor of the construction site. The RAs are Eric Flynn, a biological sciences major from Jacksonville, and Kelly Chambers, a nursing major from Effingham.

Frank's and REGAP present Greyhounds!

Good Pets in Need of Homes

FRANK'S NURSERY & CRAFTS

Where Beautiful Things Begin

Taking on a retired racing greyhound as a new pet is something that is rapidly gaining in popularity. Thanks to REGAP (Retired Greyhounds as Pets), people are discovering that these gentle, loving creatures make excellent family members. They're realizing that the greyhound is a breed capable of much more than merely chasing mechanical rabbits.

REGAP is a group dedicated to finding homes for greyhounds no longer needed by the racing industry. And, unfortunately, that time arrives for the dogs much earlier than you'd expect. Their days at the track are over by the time they're three or so. What happens to them then? In the past, they were "put to sleep."

These dogs now have a new lease on life. REGAP, a not-for-profit organization, was founded by Jacquie Schnepf and her husband, Veterinarian Dr. Dale Schnepf, of Waterloo, Iowa. Dr. Schnepf had first agreed to euthanize retired racing dogs in the Waterloo area. That agreement didn't last long.

After a few weeks, after 15 greyhounds had been destroyed, Dr. Schnepf was becoming more and more repelled by the situation. "I didn't go to school to kill healthy dogs," he claimed.

After discussion with his wife, Dr. Schnepf decided that it would come to a halt. They continued to continue to care for the dogs, but informed the trainers of their new plans. An attempt would be made to find loving homes for the greyhounds instead of destroying them. The couple enlisted the help of volunteers in several cities, including St. Louis.

REGAP's goal is to ensure that every retired racing greyhound reaches its natural life expectancy of twelve to fifteen years. It's a tough job, and it's not made any easier by the fact that they don't just hand the dogs over to anybody. Each potential adopter is carefully interviewed prior to adoption. That's the way Dr. and Mrs. Schnepf want it. REGAP's concern is not just finding homes, but finding good ones.

Greyhounds are friendly, affectionate dogs that thrive on attention and human companionship. Once they get used to their new homes, they make terrific pets. They're quite intelligent, calm, and trained not to bark.

As one owner puts it, "They present all the advantages of a grown dog with the inquisitiveness of a puppy. It's fun watching them, because they've never been in a home on a carpet. They've never gone up a stair and never ridden in a car. I gave my dog a beef bone and he didn't know what to do with it."

If you'd care to meet some of these fascinating creatures, live and up close, you'll get an opportunity this Saturday. Retired racing greyhounds and their owners will be at the Frank's store located at 125 Kanrick Plaza Drive in Shrewsbury, from 12 noon until 3 p.m.

If you're interested in adopting a greyhound, by all means make a point to stop in. The people from REGAP will provide all the information you'll need. Maybe you've never seen a greyhound before and would like the chance to see some "in person." You're equally welcome to come on by.

Providing kind and loving homes for these deserving animals is what REGAP's all about. Frank's has been working closely with REGAP for over a year now, and is very proud of it.

Hope to see you Saturday!

The Granite City High School Recycling club presented 14 ecology and recycling books to the school's library. From left are Jennifer Schwager, Bob McBride, librarian, and Chris Spahn.

School club enters recycling business

The Environmental Club at Granite City Senior High School is in the paper recycling business. The club received a $1,400 grant from the Madison County Solid Waste Recycling program to begin collecting high-grade paper for recycling.

The program began at the high school on a limited basis April 4. Red containers are located in selected offices and classrooms, and students from the Environmental Club collect the papers twice a week.

"The bins are in selected areas only because of the size of the high school," said Environmental Club sponsor Dr. Richard Skirball. "We will expand the program to include the entire school in September."

As part of the grant, the Environmental Club not only received the red bins, collection carts, and dumpster, but also was granted $200 for the purchase of instructional materials, and a $255 working cash fund to purchase fund raising materials.

The club purchased books on ecology, recycling, and the environment, which were placed in the library. The club will also sell T-shirts and tree seedlings as the fund-raising project in the fall.

The Environmental Club has approximately 40 members, including Amy Johnson as club president, and Alicia Skirball as vice president. Other club officers include Kim McNeill, chairperson of the Publicity Committee; Heather Stratman, chairperson of the Fund Raising Committee; and Christopher Spahn, chairperson of the Paper Recycling Committee.

Angela Favier, left, and Joe Burgin empty recyclable paper from the school's main office into a collection bin.

random drug-testing policy several years ago. That policy also contains a provision for testing based on reasonable suspicion.

The city had been seeking implementation of a random drug testing policy — with provisions for testing based on reasonable suspicion — during contract negotiations with Local 3405. Earlier this year, the issue was declared by the city to be at an impasse and Selph invoked his executive powers to unilaterally implement a random testing policy.

Selph is out of town this week and was unavailable for comment. Under the terms of the policy, a 60-day period of amnesty — during which time any employee with a substance abuse problem may turn himself or herself in for treatment without disciplinary ramifications — precedes random selection of names. That amnesty period began March 15, Safety Director Lynette Kozar said.

That means Friday — the day the lawsuit was filed — would have been the first day a name could have been selected at random, she said.

He said that experts have testified that random drug tests are an appropriate supplement to testing based on reasonable suspicion in order to identify substance abusers who may "plan" for pre-employment testing by abstaining from prohibited practices but later resume substance abuse.

Kozar said that 25 percent of those who were tested last year as part of the city's pre-employment procedures failed drug tests.

Fitzhenry said the policy is also designed to improve productivity and to reduce the problems of absenteeism and work-related accidents.

Hawkins said there are no such problems in her local and that productivity has increased due to elimination of positions by attrition.

"I just don't see a problem," Hawkins said.

The policy empowers the mayor to terminate the employment of any worker whose name is selected at random but refuses to submit to testing. About 25 percent of the workers would be randomly selected for testing each year under the policy, which also includes a provision for testing based on reasonable suspicion, such as an accident or excessive absenteeism.

Golf tourney to help end teen suicide

By Dan Barger
Staff writer

"I was feeling sad, lonely and afraid. I told my teacher, who told me to tell my parents, who told me to tell my principal, who told me to tell my counselor, who told me to tell my teacher, who told me to tell my parents, who told me to tell..."

15-year-old suicide victim

The classic rumor. It's a common occurrence for teenagers who find themselves confused, troubled, depressed or otherwise unable to cope with their problems, said Catherine Elsea, co-founder of LETS (Let's End Teenage Suicide).

"It's real easy to look the other way, because you don't want to see it in your kids," Elsea said.

And then there's the adult tendency to minimize the problems of today's teens.

"A girl might break up with her boyfriend and be devastated," Elsea said. "Her parents likely will tell her it's no big deal, and everything will work out. Maybe it will, but to that girl, the breakup is a big deal — and she'll worry about it and be depressed about it beyond all proportion."

Depression, Elsea says, is the leading cause of teenage suicide. From her practice as a psychotherapist for adolescents, teenagers and families in St. Charles and St. Louis, Elsea has seen a lot of seemingly trivial issues lead to teenagers' killing themselves.

"We've got to put a stop to it," Elsea said. "We have to learn to listen to our kids, help them with their problems and let them know they have a friend."

LETs focuses on prevention of teen suicide and depression. It focuses on education of youth and adults about the warning signs of potential suicide victims. Although teenagers themselves are receptive to the message — and less embarrassed about the subject matter — Elsea says the adult world doesn't always get it.

"I had a school superintendent tell me that if we brought our program to his school, everybody would think there was a problem there," Elsea said. "It's that head-in-the-sand attitude that LETS is trying to change. The non-profit organization has made presentations at high schools, middle schools, colleges, churches, and various civic and professional organizations. Elsea and other LETS representatives hope to raise the level of awareness and sensitivity of teachers, counselors and parents who who come in daily contact with a teenager who might be contemplating suicide."

Elsea says adults should not

LET's END TEENAGE SUICIDE
automatically assume sudden shifts in teenage behavior are "just a phase." Peer pressure, which often is ignored by adults as a minor conflict in a teen's life, is very real, she says. With drug and alcohol abuse present in every school system to one degree or another, kids are exposed to much more than when their parents' generation was young, she says.

"Parental pressure also can be innocently applied, yet have dramatic effects, she says."

Today, you hear parents saying to their kids, "What college are you going to?" instead of "Are you going to college?" Elsea says. "We expect an awful lot from our kids today."

In addition to spreading the message of teenage suicide, LETS must spend time raising money to support even more programs. The organization hopes to establish a local scholarship fund and someday hopes to see a national LETS program involved in getting the word out.

LETs' main fund-raiser is a charity golf tournament May 31 at Whitmoor Country Club in St. Charles. It will be followed by a dinner and auction. For more information, call 928-0313.

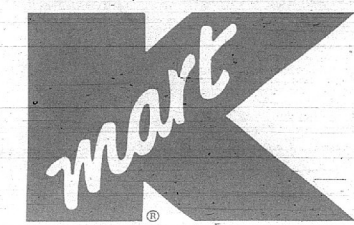

Support group formed for diabetics

Anderson Hospital, Maryville, is introducing a monthly support group for diabetics and their families. The first meeting of the diabetes support group will be held at 7 p.m. on Monday, May 16, in classrooms 2 and 3 of the hospital's Physicians Office Building.

The support group is being introduced in conjunction with National Nurses Week — May 6-12. "We think this is an appropriate time to launch this program since nurses do so much to educate diabetics about their illness," said Prue Cleghorn, R.N., education coordinator at Anderson. "This program is a good example of our nursing staff's commitment to promoting wellness in the community."

With some 13 million Americans afflicted with diabetes, there is a strong community interest in a diabetes support group, Cleghorn added. "We have received numerous telephone calls from the public inquiring about a support group for diabetics. Now I'm happy to say that we can accommodate that community need."

Diabetes is the fourth leading cause of death in the United States. More than 160,000 Americans will die from the disease and its complications this year, according to the American Diabetes Association. According to Cleghorn, the goal of the group is to educate those afflicted and their families about diabetes and its complications.

Walkers for AIDS are being sought

Organizers are recruiting walkers for the third Madison County Walk For AIDS June 4. "We're looking for individuals and organizations to join the walk to make people aware of this terrible disease," said Bobbie Vandallia of AIDS Interfaith Response of Madison County, sponsor of the walk.

Registration will begin at 8 a.m. at Gordon Moore Community Park in Alton, Vandallia said. Walkers will go west from the park along Illinois Route 140 to College Avenue in Alton, she said.

The walk will continue west on College Avenue to Rock Spring Park and back to Moore Park, Vandallia said.

"Walkers can stop for refreshments at a rest station at College Avenue Presbyterian Church," she said. People can make a contribution to sponsor a walker, Vandallia said. "All money collected from the walk will go directly to help AIDS patients in Madison County," she said.

Individuals, churches and clubs that want to join the walk can call Vandallia at 462-7215 or 463-0961. "We'll give a compact disc player to the walker who turns in the most money on the day of the walk," Vandallia said.

1949 heroine is remembered

In 1949, hospital employees and patients at St. Anthony's in Effingham faced their worst nightmare. Forty-five years later, a heroine of the St. Anthony's tragedy was honored in Granite City.

Shortly before midnight on April 4, 1949, a fire started in the basement. Within 10 minutes of it being discovered, it had shot up a laundry chute and spread through all floors.

There were 128 patients, visitors and employees in the 12th-bed building. After the fire was over, 74 had perished.

According to the story in the Effingham Daily News:

"People died in attempts to crawl through thick smoke and flames that filled the corridors. About 12 patients jumped from windows, killing at least one and injuring others — at least 15 persons were injured in escaping the flames. Ten newborns died in the blaze."

In all the horror of the fire, hospital workers kept their calm and risked their own lives to aid those under their care.

One of these people was Shirley Mae Voigt Clements, who had received her nurse's training at the former St. Elizabeth Hospital Nursing School in Granite City.

Shirley Clements

Her husband had urged her to stay home that night, because she needed rest and her patient was doing well. But she went to work anyway.

After the fire began, Clements was trapped on the second floor by the intense flames.

Unable to get to her patient to offer assistance, Clements carried another patient to a window 20 feet above the ground and jumped with the patient.

Clements was unhurt from the fall, so she turned the patient's care over to onlookers and went back into the hospital. She helped remove several patients, but on her last jump from the window she fractured her hip. She refused medical treatment for her hip and severe burns to her face and back.

Greg Sido, MD, who had graduated from St. Louis University, had stopped in Effingham to visit his wife's family on his way to Ohio.

He cared for Clements and honored her one request: She wanted to be returned to Granite City, where she had many happy memories from her nurse's training. She died two days later.

A plaque commemorating her bravery was presented at the Nurse Alumnae Tea May 3 at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Clements' daughter, Michelle Dupsky, of St. Louis, accepted the plaque.

After a major life change, such as divorce or a death in the family, and adults who are struggling with employment or relationship issues.

"Therapy can be useful for people dealing with a crisis situation, or people who find themselves unable to cope with more common life-cycle changes," White said. "Possibly there was a recent marriage or birth, or the last child has gone off to school."

"The individual may have expected to feel relieved saying goodbye to the last little one, but instead feels apprehensive and mildly depressed. These feelings may indicate a need to take a closer look at the situation."

Therapists in the outpatient program are all SEMC associates, with a combined 32 years of experience in providing mental health services. All are trained at the master's or doctoral level in the areas of psychology, social work, counseling, nursing or marriage/family studies.

"We have six therapists providing outpatient services, and each has his or her own specialty area," White said.

"A client can request one of our therapists, whom they may have had some contact with, or maybe a friend suggested this particular therapist. If the potential client has no preference, I will talk with them briefly first, in order to assess their situation. Then, I will suggest a therapist who can best meet their needs."

The program has been designed to meet the Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Healthcare Organization standards for high-quality care.

"An added benefit of the program is our relationship with the larger Mental Health Services and the medical center," White said.

"In many cases, outpatient therapy is the only service required. In other situations, additional medical issues are involved and we can make referrals to the physicians on our staff."

"We frequently work with psychiatrists who manage medication for our patients. Should hospitalization become necessary, we have the four of our four inpatient units. This ties into our philosophy of having full continuum of services."

After adolescents and children are discharged, many are followed by Katrina Gardner, RN, from SEMC's Home Health Department. Adults are seen in the home by Jessie Madison, RN, and Michael Schmitt, RN.

"When a child is discharged, I usually visit them once a week," Gardner said. "This helps parents by giving them support and letting them know I am there to help, and listen."

"I help them process information and reinforce what information they were presented during their hospitalization. This is a relatively new program which has been under way for about seven months."

School Consultation Services offers school-based mental health services to adolescents experiencing individual or family difficulties, said Harriet Grazman, licensed clinical social worker and director of School Consultation Services.

Laura Bronnbauer, a certified therapeutic recreation specialist, visits Patches, the newest member of Pet Therapy.

"By offering this program in the schools, we are providing help for troubled students while not adding financial stress on the families," she said.

Grazman, who developed the School Consultation Services at SEMC in 1986, has clinical training as a psychotherapist as well as 15 years of teaching experience.

Psychotherapy services are offered to students in the Granite City and Collinsville school systems. Also, preventive mental health education is offered to students, parents and teachers at area schools.

The program is open to any student who may benefit by meeting with a mental health professional.

No record of the contents of the meetings is placed in the student's file.

"Most of the students we see have school, social and personal problems standing in the way of their success. Each of the therapists, including myself, have offices in the schools where we meet with the students and try to get them back on the right track."

She said many of the students' problems are depression, chemical dependency, unresolved grief, and the effects of physical and sexual abuse.

Grazman said the program has had about 2,500 referrals and provided 10,000 psychotherapy sessions.

"I feel we've finally bridged a gap between the mental health community and the school system."

"The medical center, the families and the schools are very supportive of the program. Everyone seems to benefit, especially the students," she said.

School Consultation Services also sponsors Parent Survival and Teen Survival Skills programming.

Throughout the year, the Kettler Center sponsors programs on general topics, such as dealing with stress, understanding depression, and understanding child development.

All admissions to the Kettler Center are voluntary and confidential.

Each patient has his or her own private psychiatrist, or one may be assigned when necessary.

Admission is available 24 hours a day for emergency psychiatric problems.

For more information about services provided through the Mental Health Services of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, persons may call 798-3604.

911," he said. "It does not take up any air time and the county won't be out any money either. It's a real practical service."

Cellular phone service has been a growth industry for several years, but Whipple said he had no estimate of the percentage of motorists with cell phones because the two service providers—Cybertel Cellular and Southwestern Bell Mobile Systems—deem the information proprietary and will not release data.

Cellular phone analyst Hershel Shostack estimated 6 percent to 7 percent of the motoring public in the St. Louis area has cell phones. A big reason for their increasing popularity is safety, especially with women motorists, he said.

In 1989, 19 percent of cellular car phone buyers nationwide were women and 25 percent of car phones were bought for personal use, according to Shostack, president of Hershel Shostack and Associates Ltd. in Maryland. Last year, women were buying a third of all car phones and half of all buyers were getting the service for personal use.

Whipple began working on the service in February and discovered there was nothing to prevent 911 service from car phones. He alerted other 911 coordinators and the system upgrade was negotiated with Cybertel and Southwestern Bell.

"It's probably the biggest thing since 911 went on line itself," Whipple said. "I think people will really appreciate the service when they find themselves in an emergency situation in the middle of nowhere."

Whipple said motorists can also use the system to alert authorities about suspected drunken drivers.

"If you see someone swerving all over the road, pick up the phone and call the police. It may help save a life," he said. "It's also going to be handy if someone is hassling you or trying to run you off the road. It's a heck of a lot more convenient than trying to find a pay phone."

Some cellular phone systems require dialing the star symbol before the emergency number, but just dialing 911 directly will work in Madison County, Whipple said. "Even someone driving from New York who has a car phone could dial 911 in Madison County without any problem."

A friend, Mark Abram of Glen Carbon, said Aerne was an experienced pilot.

"Dean was a good person and an excellent pilot," Abram said. "I've flown with him myself and been in that plane. He's one of the best pilots I've ever been with and he was very thorough."

Aerne had taken over the business from his father, Walter Aerne of Granite City.

Janny Hartley of Edwardsville, a longtime friend and former roommate of Moore, described her as a loving person.

"She was so good with everybody," Hartley said. "She had a lot of friends."

Matthew Bradshaw was an intelligent youngster who was in a gifted program and liked Little League baseball, Hartley said. She identified Matthew's father as David Bradshaw of Quincy.

Hartley said Moore was employed by Aerne's company and the two had dated for about two years.

Aerne, Moore and their children were flying to Missouri for an annual reunion of Aerne's family, Hartley said.

Aerne was an experienced pilot and very sensible, she said. "I don't think he would have taken any chances if he thought there was something wrong," Hartley said.

Aerne once worked part-time for the village of Glen Carbon, according to building official Willard Shashack.

"He was our first licensed plumbing inspector," Shashack said. "Dean was a real pleasant person to be around and I'm going to miss him."

Warriors

by the second inning Monday. Granite City's rough up Cahokia starter Stan Williams and relievers Tom Belcher and Dave Busby. Williams lasted just one inning.

Brian Lloyd got the Warriors going with a two-run triple in the second inning. Lloyd scored on a single by Nemeth, and Sean Lakatos and Ridenour added run-scoring singles to give Granite City a 5-2 lead.

After the Comanches cut the lead to 5-3 in the bottom of the inning, the Warriors struck again in the top of the third. Jason Wood drove in Lloyd with a single, and Lakatos walked to load the bases. Ridenour drew another walk after a wild pitch brought in two runs to extend the lead to 8-3.

The Warriors scored two more runs in the fifth and closed out the scoring in the sixth, when Joe Zellerman and Nemeth hit RBI triples and Nemeth scored on an error by shortstop Ezra Sillas.

Mark Winfield, who relieved Ridenour in the fourth, worked a perfect seventh to close out the win. Winfield gave up two runs in four innings in his first relief appearance of the year.

The Warriors were hoping to save Ridenour for a possible relief stint in Tuesday's SWC finale at Collinsville.

"We didn't get a chance to use him much last week," Lignoul said. "We wanted to see Winfield in relief and see what he could do."

But Lignoul's main focus was on the offense. The entire lineup responded after a dreadful two-game slump. Every starter but Winfield collected a hit, and Winfield walked and scored twice.

"We were a little more patient at the plate," Lignoul said. "There are times when people don't see the ball real well, and unfortunately for us it happened to everybody at the same time."

"I never lost confidence in these guys. We're a good team. We knew they had the ability to come back and get (12) hits. We have confidence in the kids and they're determined to win."

Even in the loss to Belleville East, the Warriors went down with a fight. They scored three runs in the final inning without a hit.

The Warriors improved to 19-7 overall with Monday's win and were still in contention for the SWC title. Granite City and Belleville East were both 7-2 heading into Tuesday's action.

The Warriors have at least three regular-season games remaining before regional play begins next week. Granite City will travel to Salem on Friday and visit Carbondale in a doubleheader Saturday. GCHS also plans to make up last Saturday's doubleheader against O'Fallon.

"This is a big week for us," Lignoul said.

It is in more ways than one. The Warriors were hoping to earn the top seed for the Wood River Regional during Tuesday's regional meeting. The six-team regional includes Edwardsville, Alton, Civic Memorial, Jerseyville and Wood River.

The Warriors have defeated each team and were expected to be seeded first. Regional play begins May 24.

building up her wind last fall.

"It really conditioned me," she said. "I can run for a long period of time without losing anything in my steps. I could see the difference right away when the track season started. I was much stronger, and I had a lot more confidence."

"That's why I set my sights on going to state. It was always in the back of my mind. I dreamed of crossing that finish line in the sectional. It drove me to work hard and my dream came true."

Penberthy made her debut in the 200 during junior high (she attended both Coolidge and Grigsby). But she didn't take a serious approach toward the event until this year.

"I like the 200 much more than the 100," she said. "It's a longer race and it gives you time to set a pace. I feel much more comfortable in the 200, because even if I don't get a off to a good start, I still have time to make up lost ground. And once I hit the straightaway, I can excel towards the finish line."

"A lot of runners are spent with 20 or more meters to go in the 200," McClain said. "But not Lesley. She still has something left and that makes her a threat every time. The competition has to keep an eye out for her. That was the case Friday and it produced a sectional championship. I'm so proud of her."

The state meet, however, will pose a bigger challenge. Penberthy will be pitted against a talented field loaded with experience. But she isn't concerned. "Not at all," she said. "I'm not nervous at the moment, but come Friday, I'm sure I'll feel the butterflies. It's only natural. But this is a learning experience for me. I want to get accustomed to the surroundings."

"I'll give me something to shoot for next year. Plus, the stronger the competition, the better I run. I knew (Marchal) of Alton was my biggest obstacle at the sectional. She pushed me to that title. It's going to be the same thing at state. I have to concentrate and I'll run a good race. Hopefully, I'll be good enough to earn a medal."

numerous college players, not to mention several professional players and coaches. Many of them started out at Baker's summer camps.

"We really try to instill the fundamentals," Baker said. "It's a very healthy athletic and social environment. We stress tactical skills. Everything is geared to improving the quality of soccer in southern Illinois."

The clinic runs five days and covers several phases, including technical training, individual skill competition, tactical training and competition. Each participant is given quality instruction and an appropriate level of competition.

The clinic runs from 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Monday through Friday and concludes with competitive games each day. Participants have an opportunity to compete for prizes.

Each year, Baker tries to identify a common weakness among players and then address it during the camp.

"I would like to see us work on the weaknesses we're seeing in the playing community," Baker said. "Last year, one area we focused on with girls was an inability to strike the ball. This year, we're working with movement off the ball."

This year's camp will begin at 9 a.m. June 6 on the GCHS girls varsity soccer field. The cost of the camp is $70. Family and team rates are available.

For more information or entry forms, call Baker at 451-5808 or 314-355-2274.

place.

"The track was wet and Christina wasn't a very good mudder," Collins said. "She couldn't hold the lead we had built and we fell out of the picture. It's not her fault, though. We just didn't have enough bodies to offset our shortcomings."

"Our biggest shortcoming was Shayla's (left) leg injury. I couldn't run her in the 100 because of it. We were already handicapped and that injury only poured more fuel on the fire. I'm sorry the season ended this way. This program has had a lot of success over the years, especially sending people to state. It's the first time the Madison girls have failed to produce a state qualifier since the late 1970s. Yukeitha Gardner, now a freshman at Joliet Community College, led the Trojannes last season by winning the state title in the 100-meter dash.

But Gardner, Shermaine Russell and Latisha Swift were nowhere to be found on Friday and it showed in the standings. Madison's best efforts came in the 4x100 relay (fourth in 53.6) and the 4x200 (fourth in 1:56). Joliet Woodfork finished sixth in the 300 hurdles (57.0).

"Consistency was our biggest adversary this season," Collins said. "Unlike past years, we didn't have the one girl that could bail us out. We needed a solid team effort, but it just wasn't there."

"That's why I'm not worried about her going to state for the first time. She's going to do just fine."

The important thing for now is the experience factor. Brandt still has three years to concentrate on bigger and better things.

"I might be a little nervous," Brandt said. "After all, it's the state meet and I've never been up there before. I don't know much about the competition, but I'll see where I stand on Friday (in the preliminary round)."

"But I've got nothing to lose and everything to gain. I'm just going up there to do my best. It's been a great season no matter what happens."

Brandt

inexperience.

"She can do it," said Larry Curry, Granite City's field events coach. "A throw of 126 feet, in my opinion, is good enough to crack the top 12 at state. She could even place. I've got a lot of confidence in her."

"She's worked extremely hard this season. She reminds me so much of her older sister Debbie. They're very similar in a lot of ways."

Brandt's older sister, Debbie, made three consecutive trips to state (1993, '94 and '95). Stephanie could do it four times.

"Debbie didn't qualify for state until her sophomore year," Brandt said. "I got to go my freshman year. It's no big deal, though. Debbie has been pulling for me ever since I started throwing the discus."

"All she told me (last week) and was to concentrate when I stepped into the ring. I was a little worried about my footwork today. I'm still twisting my right foot a little bit on my release, but my throws have been real strong."

"I know it all starts with the legs," Curry said. "But Stephanie is so strong, it hasn't affected her release. I knew she would qualify for state because she could easily clear the qualifying distance."

"She's going to get stronger in the next three years and I expect her to throw the discus 150 feet by her senior year."

Playing volleyball and basketball aided Brandt's progress in track.

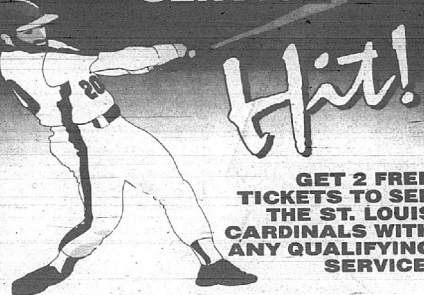

"She learned a lot playing those sports," Curry said. "They taught her patience and poise. She was all business today. Once she stepped into the ring, you could see the confidence oozing out of her."

Lorybeth Morgan

Crowned Miss Tot Personality

Four-year-old Lorybeth Morgan was crowned Cinderella Scholarship Pageant's Miss Tot Personality in the three- to six-year-old age division on March 6 in Lake St. Louis.

This title was given based on a personal interview with the judges, an on-stage interview with an emcee, and by singing the song of the child's choice.

Lorybeth chose to sing Barney's "I Love You" song. She was awarded a rhinestone tiara, banner, trophy, and spray of flowers. She was also invited to attend the state finals in June.

On March 4, Lorybeth was crowned Sunburst Beauty Pageant's U.S.A. Little Miss Collinsville at the Gateway Civic Center. In addition to her beauty title, she won trophies for photographic queen and best attire. Lorybeth will be competing in the Sunburst U.S.A. Illinois State Pageant in May for a number of cash bonds and wonderful prizes.

In February, Lorybeth was crowned both U.S.A. High Point's Little Miss Carbondale and U.S.A. High Point's Photogenic Queen. This was her first state preliminary.

Lorybeth is the daughter of Lorrie Lee Morgan. Her grandparents are Jerry and Shirley Morgan of Troy.

Although Lorybeth will be busy securing sponsors to allow her to compete in the state level of competition, she is offering her services for fundraisers, grand openings, and parades.

Her sponsors include Ron's Automotive of Collinsville and Happy Kids Consignment shop of Fairview Heights.

Quad City Church Women

From April 21 through 23, four leaders of the Quad-City Church Women United met at the East Central Regional Event held in Indianapolis.

Those who attended were Helen Stumpe, president; Helen Rodoff, vice president; Millie Clements, secretary; and Muriel Kratz, chairman of ministries to Women and Children and secretary of State Church Women United.

The theme of the event was "Changing Women, Changing World." The major concerns of this gathering were how to make Church Women United more intergenerational, including women of all ages and involving younger working women in challenging, fulfilling programs; how to interest women of all races and nationalities; health care reform; and economics alternatives for disadvantaged women and children so that they have a higher standard of living.

Daughters of Union Vets

Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War Aunt Becky Young Tent #82 met at the home of Joyce Moran April 27.

President Mary Stomum opened the meeting. Evelyn Ringler opened the Bible and Moran read the opening prayer. All members recited the Pledge of Allegiance.

Stomum, secretary pro-tem, read the minutes of the last meeting. Treasurer Louise Thompson gave the treasurer's report.

Get-well cards were signed by all members for Eud Bolin and Peggy Gibbons; both are in the hospital.

Thompson brought some old pictures of DUV Tent 90 from 1935 to 1968. The members wore long white dresses. In 1959, Tent 94 separated, and the new Tent 92 was formed to stay in Granite City. Others went to Tent 101 in Madison. A nice luncheon was served by Moran in absence of Bolin, the support hostess.

Patriotic instructor Moran suggested that for Memorial Day, after the next meeting May 25, members would visit the cemetery in recognition of sisters deceased. Each member will read a prayer about the flag or anything of their liking as a memorial. Games were played and Christine Hornberger won the special gift. The next meeting will be at 11:30 a.m. May 26 at the home of Stomum with the hostess being Hornberger.

Homemakers Extension

The annual meeting of Madison County Homemakers Extension Association/ECE was held in Marine at the Marine United Church of Christ on April 28.

Attending from the Granite City Unit were Ann Komopka, Ann Pates, Florence Hagnauer, Vincine Zerlan, Flo Stokos, Anna Michels, Mary Evalyne Yenchou, Helen Harshany and Nina Dittmar.

The meeting was called to order by Margaret Duncan, board president. The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited by all, and the invocation was given by Pastor Peggy Bloesch of Marine United Church of Christ. A business meeting was then conducted.

A report was given by Marian Reis, past IAPCE District Six director.

Installation of officers was then held. Frances Griebel was installed as president. Awards were then given out. Granite City Unit received a certificate for its donation of $75.

After the business meeting a luncheon was served. Each lady present received a small plant.

After the luncheon the board members presented a crazy style show.

their monthly meeting on April 28. He explained the VIP program concerning current regulations of donating blood. CWU will sponsor its next drive on June 7 at St. John United Church of Christ from 2 to 7 p.m.

Jean Hileman led the devotion for the day. She also spoke of the Back-to-School Care and Share program sponsored by Protestant Welfare on August 3, 4, 5, 8 and 9. Volunteers are needed for this program. She reminded those present of the talent show on May 20 at the high school at 7 p.m., sponsored by Protestant Welfare. She also stressed the fact that they are in immediate need of towels, sheets, and good cooking pans.

Reports were given by Helen Stumpe, president and Muriel Kratz of the regional meeting held on April 23, at Indianapolis. The theme was "Changing Women, Changing World."

The next CWU meeting will be held May 26.

Project Lemonade response was 'exceptional,' founder says

By Scott Wuerz
Staff writer

Project Lemonade founders said it may take more than two weeks to find out how sweet their latest project will be.

The group sponsored a fund drive in response to the May 6 Rally of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan at the Edwardsville Courthouse.

Opponents of the Klan were urged to donate money for every minute they rallied in much the same way funds are donated for a walk-a-thon, Project Lemonade founder Bill Seltzer said. The money was earmarked for the NAACP, The Southern Poverty Law Center and the Anti-Defamation League — groups with long histories of battling the KKK.

The Klan rally was estimated to last 116 minutes, but Seltzer said he was unable to guess what total contributions will be.

"The response we received was exceptional for the rally," Seltzer said. "It's hard to tell just how much everyone will pledge, though."

Seltzer said he hopes the contributions will be even better than they were during three Klan rallies in January. Project Lemonade took in $155 for each minute the KKK rallied, and totaled more than $10,000 in January.

Despite Seltzer's pledge to collect at Klan rallies throughout the Midwest, national KKK director Thomas Robb said the organization will not shorten its agenda.

"I hope they are prepared to dig deep into their pockets, because we're going to be here for a long time," Robb said before the May 6 rally. "It really makes no difference what they (Project Lemonade supporters) do. We're just trying to exercise our First Amendment rights."

DePauw University
The DePauw University chapters of Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Eta Sigma, two honorary fraternities for freshmen students, held their initiation on April 27. Students must have obtained a 3.5 grade-point average or better in order to be eligible for membership.

Incorporated into the DePauw chapters of Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Eta Sigma was Margaret Christiansen, daughter of Walter and Faith Christiansen of Granite City. She is a 1993 graduate of Granite City High School.

Ranken Technical
Brandon Crockett and Jason Markell, second-year students at Ranken Technical College, located in St. Louis, were recently inducted into the college's chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, an international honor society for institutions which offer associates degrees.

Both are communication electronics majors from Granite City. They were among nine students earning membership in the prestigious academic society this year.

Candidates for Phi Theta Kappa membership must achieve a 3.5 grade-point average and agree to participate in the society's charitable activities. In the past, the Ranken chapter has organized several used book drives and two blood drives. The chapter also organizes an annual food and drive at Christmas time.

The Phi Theta Kappa Society was established in 1918. It is the only internationally acclaimed honor society serving two-year colleges. To recognize and encourage scholarship among associate degree students, the society provides leadership and service opportunities, fosters an intellectual climate in which ideas and ideals can flourish and stimulates interest in continuing academic excellence.

Southern Illinois U.
Liz Parker receives congratulations from Dr. David Sill, dean of the department of theater and dance at SIUE.

Liz Parker of Granite City, a graduating senior at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, received academic and choreographic recognition at the Honors Day Convocation sponsored by the Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi.

Parker will graduate with academic honors, completing degrees in both elementary education and dance and theater. While at SIUE, Parker has choreographed and performed in numerous productions. She has been a member of the SIU Dance Company and the Katherine Dunham Dance Company.

Parker has accepted a position with Bethalto School District for the 1994-95 school year and has begun work toward a master's degree in education at Eastern Illinois University.

East Carolina U.
Timothy W. Hutchison of Granite City, a student at the East Carolina University School of Medicine in Greenville, was recently awarded a fellowship, that will enable him to serve eight weeks in medical mission at a needy site in the third world.

Hutchison and two other third-year medical students at ECU received three of eleven MAP Reader's Digest International Fellowships recently awarded to medical residents, interns, and medical students across the country. They will spend two months of their senior year putting their medical training to use at a rural mission hospital in the developing country of Kenya.

MAP International, a Christian global health and development organization, will pay 75 percent of each recipient's round-trip airfare. The fellowships are made possible by an endowment gift from the late DeVitt Wallace, founder of "Reader's Digest."

Hutchison plans a career in family medicine. He feels his exposure to the kind of medicine practiced in Kenya — medicine lacking the advanced technology available in the United States — will make him a better doctor.

Enjoy fresh asparagus before the season passes you buy. Cook it tender-crisp and serve Lemon Mustard Sauce on it. Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Stir in 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt and pinch of pepper. Gradually blend in 1 cup hot water and 1 teaspoon prepared mustard. Cook and stir until thickened. Add grated peel and juice of ½ fresh lemon. Cool slightly. Blend in ½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing — regular or reduced-fat.

Cool and delicious thrill of fresh fruit easy to enjoy

The National Institutes of Health encourages people to eat five fruits and vegetables each day.

I heartily agree. It is truly one of the most important health choices anyone can make. Fruits and vegetables lower the risk of cancer, heart disease and some digestive disorders because they are low in fat and rich sources of fiber and vitamins A and C.

Currently, half of Missourians eat only one or two servings a day. Only 28 percent eat five or more servings daily.

We could do better. Vitamin supplements do not count. They just cannot provide all the health benefits of "real food."

Reading a brochure about easy ways to slip more fruits and vegetables into a busy day recently made me smile. A suggestion for a quick-to-fix fruit encouraged eating pitted frozen bing cherries right from the bag.

I knew that.

My sister and I used to pop Mom's frozen pie cherries in our mouths for "energy pills" while we swooped around the basement on our roller skates.

We did not realize then all the good things we were getting — just that they tasted good enough to risk the consequences when Mom discovered half-empty freezer cartons.

Here are some other quick and fruitful ideas to try:

- Drink fruit juice instead of soda or coffee in the car. Individual servings of 100 percent juice can be kept chilled in the refrigerator and ready to go or picked up at gas stations and fast food restaurants.

- Pack raisins and other dried fruit in purses, briefcases or school bags for a quick energy boost.

- Melons, cut and cubed from the market, are ready to eat when you are.

Here is a quickie dessert, breakfast or snack that takes advantage of strawberries, now in season, for a nutritious punch. It provides nearly half the calcium, 28 percent of the protein and more than 200 percent of the vitamin C needed daily. More calories can be cut by substituting a few ice cubes for the ice milk, but some calcium will be lost.

STRAWBERRY MILKSHAKE

1 pt. fresh strawberries
¼ cup sugar
1½ cups cold skim milk
1 cup vanilla ice milk

In food processor or blender, mix together strawberries, sugar, milk and ice milk until well blended.

Makes 2 large servings; 411 calories, 6.4 g fat (14 percent calories from fat), 6 g fiber, 28 percent of the U.S. recommended daily amount of protein, 43 percent of calcium and 219 percent of vitamin C each.

Live it up with rice for flavor, economy, utility

In an Asian country, a single person in one day may eat at least one pound of rice. It will take a while for Americans to surpass that, although U.S. rice consumption is at an all-time high — 22 pounds per person.

Rice is known for what it has and what it doesn't have. It is loaded with energy-giving carbohydrates, but has few calories and no fat, sodium or cholesterol.

It stretches high-cost protein food without costing much itself. The USA Rice Council calculates the cost of a serving at less than a nickel.

Mimi DeWolfe, home economist with the rice council, says, "An average consumer does not realize there is a difference in rice. There are 40,000 different varieties of rice worldwide."

Research today centers on rice's healthful attributes, as well as ways to grow new rice in different areas. Most aromatic rice available in the U.S. now are grown in California.

Consumption of brown rice really has grown recently, particularly since quick-cooking brown rice has become available. Ten minutes looks a lot better than 45 minutes for preparation time. Brown rice has the best ability to hold together because of the seven-bran layer, DeWolfe says.

Cooked rice keeps well-covered about seven days in a refrigerator. It can be used from the freezer for about six months in recipes that include other ingredients.

Black Bean and Rice Salad is from a brochure, "Light, Lean, Low Fat." Rice cooked earlier or the night before gives easy, delicious results.

BLACK BEAN AND RICE SALAD

2 cups cooked rice, cooled to room temperature
1 cup cooked black beans
1 cup chopped fresh tomato
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese, if desired
1 tbsp. chopped fresh parsley
¼ cup Italian salad dressing
Lettuce leaves

Combine rice, beans, tomato, cheese and parsley in large bowl. Toss lightly with dressing.

GARDEN FRITTATA

2 tbsp. olive oil
1 lb. (3 medium) potatoes, coarsely shredded

1 cup red bell pepper strips
1 cup sliced mushrooms
¾ cup sliced green onion
8 eggs, beaten
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded fontina or Swiss cheese
½ to 1 tsp. salt
¼ to ½ tsp. pepper

Heat 2 teaspoons oil in 10-inch nonstick skillet over medium-high heat. Sauté potatoes, tossing occasionally, 5 to 7 minutes until tender and golden. Remove from skillet to bowl.
Heat 2 more teaspoons oil in skillet. Add bell pepper, mushrooms and onion. Sauté, tossing occasionally, 5 minutes. Add to potato. Thoroughly mix in eggs, cheese, salt and pepper.

Preheat oven to 450°. Heat remaining 2 teaspoons oil in skillet over medium heat. Add potato mixture.

Cook until bottom is set. Using rubber spatula, lift edges to let liquid portion flow underneath. Repeat several times until most liquid is set.
If skillet handle is not ovenproof, wrap in triple thickness of aluminum foil.

Set skillet in oven. Watching very closely, bake about 10 minutes until just completely set and top is nicely browned.

FEELING FIT
By Mark Lymberopoulos

Make a stationary bike workout more fun by changing positions. Warm up with the tuck, sitting comfortably on the seat with pelvis tucked, bending forward, or try the jump for interval training, moving from sitting up to a standing position, sprint-peddaling all the while.
To tighten triceps, extend arm overhead close to ear, holding a light weight, and support elbow with the other hand. Slowly lower weight behind you; then return to start. Do 10 reps, then switch arms.
Jumping rope is an easy workout. Look for a rope with handles that are attached with bearings for smoother turning. Bearings work better than swivel attachments.
Cantaloupe is a healthy treat: half a melon has a day's worth of vitamin A, only 90 calories—and it's delicious!

A plus for sports among teens: kids who participate in intercollegiate sports are less likely to be regular or heavy smokers than others, and the more sports they play, the less likely they are to smoke at all.

Another plus for exercising: the nice folks working out around you at

Today's Food

Save room for dessert at potluck dinner

The emphasis on healthy, low-fat eating is here to stay, but so is the urge to reach for a piece of luscious chocolate cake or the chocolate chip cookies calling your name from the cookie jar.

There is a way to satisfy these cravings conveniently on special occasions, while maintaining healthy eating habits. Everyone enjoys easy, yet indulgent desserts that minimize fat.

The key to enjoying a treat here or dessert there is moderation. Abstaining from all sweets often encourages an urge to eat something high in fat, so a healthy-hopeful ends up binging on more than a single sampling or helping. Minimizing high-fat ingredients as much as possible or slicing servings smaller is another way to minimize fat in desserts.

Canned fruits are naturally low in sodium, fat and cholesterol and virtually fat-free, so they are handy ingredients to use in desserts. Fruits help satisfy the body's urge for sugar, while easing the concerns of today's health-conscious minds.

Apple Praline Cake is an indulgent treat. To cut some fat and calories, eliminate some of the nuts, replace ¼ cup oil with chunky unsweet-ened applesauce and omit the sauce. Servings also can be cut smaller to serve more people.

APPLE PRALINE CAKE

- 1 can (20 oz.) sliced apples, drained
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- ½ cup packed light brown sugar
- 1 cup oil
- 4 eggs
- 1½ cups flour
- 1½ tsp. baking powder
- 1½ tsp. baking soda
- 2 tsp. cinnamon
- 1½ tsp. dried mint leaves
- 1½ tsp. nutmeg
- ¾ cup chopped walnuts

Praline Sauce

Preheat oven to 350°. Grease and flour 12-cup fluted tube pan.

Finely chop 1½ cups apples. Combine with sugars and oil in large bowl. Mix in eggs, one at a time. Mix in combined flour, baking powder, baking soda, cinnamon, mint and nutmeg. Mix in ½ cup walnuts.

Spoon batter into prepared pan. Bake in preheated oven 50 minutes or until cake begins to pull away from side of pan.

Cool cake in pan on wire rack 10 minutes. Remove from pan. Cool on wire rack. Pierce warm cake with long-tined fork. Spoon half the Praline Sauce over cake. Arrange remaining apple on top of cake. Spoon remaining sauce over apples. Sprinkle with remaining ¼ cup walnuts.

Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Praline Sauce: In small saucepan, heat 6 tablespoons margarine or butter until melted. Stir in ¾ cup packed light brown sugar and ¼ cup brandy or apple juice. Heat to boiling. Reduce heat. Simmer 5 to 8 minutes until sauce is thick like honey. Makes about ½ cup sauce.

Meal-in-one struts dinner in 'simple pleasures' class

Everyone looks for good value. Finding ways to make both food dollars and family time stretch further has become a way of life.

Cod with Garden Ratatouille is a nutritious, meal-in-one recipe that the whole family will enjoy. Best of all, it is easy on a budget and requires little cooking time. Alaska's cod harvest, about 250,000 metric tons, is frozen within hours of harvest. State-of-the-art processing and freezing methods assure that it is high in quality. Snow white with large and tender flake, it comes boned and skinned in the frozen seafood department or freshly thawed at the seafood counter.

For extra convenience, buy several packages of cod at a time. Frozen cod keeps in a freezer up to 6 months. Let cod thaw in a shallow pan in the refrigerator overnight or use a microwave on the defrost cycle.

This dish uses a classic vegetable combination of mushrooms, eggplant, zucchini, tomato and red pepper. The recipe calls for onion, garlic and basil, but other favorite herbs can be added to taste. The cod is sautéed quickly so its delicate flavor comes through as it is served on top of the vegetable mixture.

This balance of flavor is not the dish's only beauty. It has only 212 calories per serving with less than 7 grams fat, following the American Heart Association's recommended dietary guidelines.

COD WITH GARDEN RATATOUILLE

- 2 cups diced mushrooms
- 2 tbsp. olive oil
- 1/2 onion, diced
- 3 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/2 tsp. crushed basil
- 1 medium eggplant, diced (about 2 cups)
- 1 large tomato, diced
- 1 medium zucchini, diced
- 1 red bell pepper, diced
- 15 large ripe olives, cut in quarters
- 2 lb. cod fillets
- 1 tbsp. fresh lemon juice

In large nonstick skillet over medium-high heat, cook mushrooms in 1 tablespoon oil until browned. Add onion, garlic and basil. Cook, stirring occasionally, until onion is soft.

Add eggplant, tomato, zucchini, red pepper and olives. Season to taste with salt and pepper, if desired. Cook, stirring occasionally, over medium heat, 10 minutes.

In separate skillet, heat remaining 1 tablespoon oil. Season cod with salt and pepper, if desired. Sauté over medium-high heat 2 to 3 minutes per side until fish just flakes when tested with fork. Stir lemon juice into vegetables. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

To serve, divide vegetables evenly between serving plates. Top each with cod.

Makes 6 servings; 212 calories, 7 g fat (29 percent calories from fat), 29 g protein, 55 mg cholesterol, 8 g carbohydrate, 211 mg sodium and 2.9 g dietary fiber each, with out salt.

Horoscope

Wednesday, May 18
Details always seem important when the moon is in Virgo — remember to take your driver's license when you leave the house. A square of Mars to Uranus makes it easy to lock horns with parents, stubborn people and bosses. Surprises may include discovering that there's more to be done on a project than you expected. A good laugh clears the air, keep a joke handy.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Ambitions are strong, and experts are likely to be wrong. Expect a parent to drop an emotional bombshell — take it in stride, as it may quickly pass into history. Electronic errors can affect your performance.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Don't be surprised if in-laws show up unexpectedly. News from far away is significant. Take walks if you're nervous, and put off repair work until skies are less volatile. Listen to your intuitive voice.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Include a pal in plans — all sorts of interesting surprises come through friends, meetings and organizational contacts. Enjoy a joke at your own expense, and win over those who once were jealous.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Don't worry about what you can't control, but do think about what you can improve: your career, or help your boss or family meet unexpected needs. Your mate simply doesn't do what you wish he or she would.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Take care of your health — save that new restaurant experience for another day. Channel restless feelings by way of walks and routine work. Save that exciting new restaurant experience for another day.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (May 18). Extra power should be used to make plans for the future — start writing that book. You'll have brilliant ideas in June and July — but don't expect others to understand until August, when one special new acquaintance brings new power to your life. Romance and love make the fall a time to remember forever. A gifted child is your teacher. Wealth comes in '95.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Possessive love is one of the reasons you are a bit shy of commitment. Someone who lives far away is thinking of you. A rebellious child makes life rocky — forget criticizing, and show your love.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Those around you who are cranky will take it out on you because you seem so composed. Simple tasks go smoothly, however. Family and friends all love you, but can they get along with each other?

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). The efforts of a friend on your behalf are heartwarming. New job opportunities may include relocation. Yes, extended education is the way of the future — and yours is unlimited.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Exceptional conditions continue to prevail at work — you're feeling independent, and you may want to throw it all aside, but your humor and good nature help you follow through. A Cancer is helpful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Good advice from an older person is just what you need. Your family brings pressure that curtails your freedom. Remember that you owe it to yourself to develop new ideas and activities.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). An outspoken colleague delights you. Keep your own opinions secret, but write down dreams, ideas and wild notions. Your psychic streak is working overtime. A new friend knows your secrets.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Everything seems to happen at once on the job — perhaps due to co-workers. News from an old friend who lives far away contains a chance you never thought you'd get. A Capricorn complicates things.

A SPECIAL 5 YEAR ANNIVERSARY GATHERING IS PLANNED FOR

SUNDAY, MAY 22, 1994

The Public Is Invited As We Celebrate
THE 10:30 A.M. SERVICE WILL BE A SPECIAL PRESENTATION BY PASTOR EDDIE LINHART FROM THE PAST FIVE YEARS
LOCAL SINGERS WILL MINISTER IN PRAISE AND WORSHIP
THE 3:00 P.M. SERVICE WILL FEATURE

THE BEATENBO SINGERS

Charlie and Linda Beatenbo have a unique God-called ministry that began nearly thirty-five years ago. As a young boy, Charlie began to play gospel music with his family. After fifteen years, he left his family group to join Wendy Bagwell and the Sunlites where he spent the next ten years as a musician. After 25 years, a group was formed called the Charlie Beatenbo Singers which toured extensively for the past ten years. God has anointed the Beatenbos to minister music as Charlie plays guitar, piano, banjo and many other instruments combined to praise and worship the Lord in church. Charlie and Linda now travel on a full-time basis sharing the Word of God along with music and singing.

Holy Family PSA elects officers

Election of Parish and School Association committee members for the 1994-95 school year was held at the April 25 meeting at Holy Family Catholic School.

Officers elected were Cindy Granddier and Diane McFain, co-chairs; Pat Hays and Linda Fabry, co-chairs-elect; Debbie Kelley, treasurer; Pat Hinds, corresponding secretary; and Jeannie Patton, recording secretary.

Following the elections, committee reports were given by Sister M. Angelene, principal, who reported on her recent trip to Anaheim, Calif., to attend a principals' conference.

With the end of the school year approaching, Sister Angelene reminded parents of upcoming events, including the spring musical on May 22 and eighth grade graduation May 26. The last day of school is scheduled for June 1, with dismissal at 11 a.m.

The evening's speaker was Charles LeBlanc, president of Marquette High School in Alton. LeBlanc spoke on the importance of family and teachers in a Catholic education.

Following his talk, recent first place winners in speech tournaments presented their award winning performances. They included Danny Dixon, who received a perfect score in his tournament; Amanda Brasfield; Richard Kroeper and Linda Delaney.

The evening's attendance prize was won by Jane Hayes and the 50/50 drawing winner was Patton. Refreshments were served by the kindergarten parents. The final meeting of the school year will be at 7 p.m. May 23.

Science show slated in Collinsville

The Greater St. Louis Association of Earth Science Clubs will hold its second annual show May 20-22 at the Gateway Center in Collinsville.

Show hours will be 2-8 p.m. Friday; 9:30 a.m.-8 p.m. Saturday; and 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

This year for the first time in almost two decades, a St. Louis Gem and Mineral show will display an exhibit on loan from the national collection at the Smithsonian Institution.

This exhibit will be a 14-piece selection from the American Gemstone Jewelry Collection which was presented to the Smithsonian in 1976.

The jewelry pieces, designed by Aldo Cipullo, are 18-karat gold and feature gemstones from North America (U.S.A., Canada and Mexico).

The jewelry pieces incorporate diamonds, rubies, sapphires, topaz, peridot, garnet, tourmaline, turquoise, aquamarine, amethyst and sunstone in a spectacular one-of-a-kind collection.

The theme mineral for this year's show is fluorite, the official state mineral of Illinois.

The show will also include demonstrations of silversmithing, gem cutting and wire craft. Returning again this year will be the highly acclaimed ultraviolet (black light) display, a swap area and a "treasure tree" for the children attending.
